WELCOME TO AUSTIN!

Andrew K. Nestingen | president@scandinavianstudy.org

Welcome to the SASS 2023 Conference in Austin at the University of Texas!

We met at UT-Austin in preparation for the upcoming conference six weeks ago. A conference on Meso-American art was being held in the Glickman Conference Center, where the SASS conference will be held. Buzz filled the common areas. We tested the patio to make sure it suited our coffee breaks. Spring in Austin will be beautiful. And the SASS Conference offers something for everyone.

The conference theme "Everyday Life" has attracted a variety of exciting streams and papers. Professor Stephen Mitchell will give the keynote lecture, with elements of everyday life connecting the medieval past to the 19th and 20th centuries. The banquet will be held at the Otis Hotel, with plenty of time afterwards to take in some Texas two-step, if you're inclined.

You can enjoy the Texas weather by walking from the combined Otis and AC Hotels to campus for the conference. They're not far. Pass by the Ransom Center, which you'll also have a chance to tour. Just inside the center is an exhibit of a Gutenberg Bible and another of the first photograph, made by Joseph Nicéphore Niépce in 1824. There will also be outdoor coffee breaks and some receptions.

There are fewer registrants than usual for this year's SASS Conference. We continue to rebuild our professional practices as the pandemic wanes. Yet with the lively program, convenient and pleasant hotels, and the UT campus, the SASS meeting 2023 offers something for every participant. We look forward to seeing you in Austin! Welcome!

Sincerely,

Lynn Wilkinson
Conference Chair

CALL FOR PAPERS: CLCS NORDIC FORUM AT MLA 2024

The CLCS (Comparative Literary and Cultural Studies) Nordic Forum of the MLA invites proposals for papers that examine notions of self-care and health in Nordic literature, film, visual art, performance, and/or popular culture. Papers might relate to issues such as the historical construction of health within the welfare state, conceptions of wellness in various media, rituals of healing from personal and/or collective trauma, pedagogical practices related to mental and physical wellbeing, and disability studies, among other relevant approaches. The Nordic forum particularly welcomes research that engages with Critical Nordic Studies approaches and methodologies to interrogate concepts of the North (Norden), and invites scholarship focused on regions currently and/or formerly colonized by the Nordic states, such as Greenland, Sápmi, and the Caribbean. Please submit your 250-word abstracts by 15 March to Jenna Coughlin (CLCS Nordic Forum Chair) by sending them to coughj3@stolaf.edu.

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS: DAGMAR AND NILS WILLIAM OLSSON VISITING SCHOLAR AWARD

The Swenson Swedish Immigration Research Center, located on the campus of Augustana College in Rock Island, Illinois, invites applications for the Dagmar and Nils William Olsson Visiting Scholar Award. The award provides reimbursement for travel and living expenses for a one to two week research trip to SSIRC in order to conduct research in the center's collections. The award is open to anyone doing academic research on any aspect of Swedish-American history or relations.

Applications are due by May 15, 2023

More information and a link to the application form can be found here: <https://www.swensoncenter.org/visitingscholaraward>

DIRECTOR, CENTRE FOR IBSEN STUDIES

A position as Centre Director (SKO 1475) is available at the Centre for Ibsen Studies

The Centre for Ibsen Studies (uio.no) is world leading in research, documentation, and dissemination of knowledge about Henrik Ibsen and his works. In the near future the Centre will be launching an international digital master's program, and planning for the upcoming Ibsen Jubilee Year in 2028 is underway. The Centre currently has three permanent full-time academic staff, a full-time researcher responsible for the digital resources that the Centre manages, and a part-time librarian. As of January 2023, the Centre is hosting a five-year ERC research project with a number of recruitment positions. In addition, the Centre regularly hosts a number of guest researchers for stays of varying lengths.

The position as Centre Director is a four-year limited term position with the possibility of renewal for an additional four years. Responsibilities include leadership of research, teaching, and public outreach. It is important that the Director of the Centre inspires, facilitates and motivates internal and external collaboration, promotes the Centre externally, and is a driving force in its scholarly, strategic, and institutional development. The successful candidate will in addition be responsible for management of the Centre's personnel, as well as budgeting and health and safety oversight. It is the responsibility of the Centre Director to ensure that the institutional conditions support Centre activities optimally.

The Centre Director also has an important role to play regarding the teaching and advising of master's students and Ph.D. fellows, and as a lecturer and presenter at various events. There is time allotted to research.

The Centre aims to strengthen Ibsen documentation and outreach, particularly through the expansion and improvement of its digital resources in preparation for Ibsen2028. It is expected that the Centre Director has a plan for how the Centre can best achieve these goals.

The Centre Director's time is equally divided between leadership, research, and teaching.

The Centre shares administrative support with and is a unit within the Department of Linguistics and Scandinavian Studies (uio.no) at the Faculty of Humanities. The Centre has its own council, which serves in an advisory capacity to the Centre Director with regard to academic and strategic questions. See <http://www.hf.uio.no/is/>

The Centre Director is the leader of the Centre, reports to the Head of Department, and leads Centre activities within the framework established by the Faculty Board and the Department Board.

FELLOWSHIP TO SUPPORT ACADEMIC RESEARCH IN THE COLLECTIONS OF THE SWEDISH EMIGRANT INSTITUTE

The Swedish Emigrant Institute, housed in the House of Emigrants in Växjö, Sweden, holds Sweden's largest collection of sources and literature pertaining to the Swedish migration to North America. It includes tens of thousands of letters, as well as numerous diaries, newspapers, interviews and other material relating to the history and consequences of the mass migration between Sweden and North America in the 19th and 20th centuries. The library holds more than 20,000 volumes. The institute also promotes contacts between Sweden and North America. For more information about the Swedish Emigrant Institute and the House of Emigrants, see the webpage of the institute at the website of Kulturparken Småland.

The Swedish Emigrant Institute, supported by the Linnaeus University Centre for Concurrences in Colonial and Postcolonial Studies and Kulturparken Småland, announces an international research grant of up to SEK 20 000 (c. USD 1 900) for scholarly research in the collections of the Institute in Växjö, to be undertaken during September 2023 – June 2024. The fellowship is intended to cover travel to and from Växjö, accommodation in Växjö and a daily allowance to cover enhanced living expenses during the research stay in Växjö. The recipient is expected to spend from one to three weeks at the Swedish Emigrant Institute in Växjö. In addition, the recipient is expected to engage with faculty and students at Linnaeus University's campus in Växjö and to give at least one seminar or guest lecture at the university during the stay in Växjö.

Eligible applicants, who can be based anywhere in the world, must hold a PhD or be enrolled in a PhD program at the time of the deadline for the application. The purpose of the research must be academic, and a successful application will clearly show the significance of the collections in the Swedish Emigrant Institute. The support of the above-mentioned institutions must be acknowledged in any publications resulting from the research conducted at the Swedish Emigrant Institute. The applicant also undertakes to donate a copy of any publication resulting from his or her research at the institute to the library of the Institute.

The application consists of the following parts, consolidated into a single pdf-document:

- 1) Letter of motivation (max 1 page)
- 2) Research project description (max 2 pages)
- 3) CV (max 2 pages)
- 4) Name and contact details of up to three referees
- 5) Budget, specifying all travel costs and time plan for the purposed visit*

*Costs for accommodation and allowance are calculated by the Institute and should not be included in the budget.

The application should be sent by e-mail to migrationresearch@kulturparkensmaland.se by 5 May, 2023. The decision will be made by the board of the Swedish Emigrant Institute before the end of May 2023. The decision can not be appealed. The board may modify the budget and/or proposed time plan.

For more information, contact migrationresearch@kulturparkensmaland.se

The Linnaeus University Centre for Concurrences in Colonial and Postcolonial Studies is a leading centre for Colonial and Postcolonial studies in Europe. With around 25 members, from PhD students to full professors, and spanning 8 disciplines, the centre's research analyses encounters between different cultures and identities in the context of European overseas expansion from the fifteenth century onwards, taking into account multiple experiences and perspectives in the study of global history and culture. 2023 ACLS LEADING EDGE FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

The Leading Edge Fellowship program aims to demonstrate the potential of humanistic knowledge and methods to solve problems, build capacity, and advance social justice and equity. The fellowships support recent PhDs in the humanities and interpretive social sciences as they work with social justice organizations to advance justice and equity in communities across the United States.

ACLS welcomes applications from recent PhDs in the humanities and related social sciences to take on full time positions at one of twenty-two social justice organizations, including including the Campaign for Southern Equality (Asheville, NC), Gender Justice (Saint Paul, MN), and PolicyLink (Oakland, CA). The full roster of partnering organizations and projects is available at acls.org.

Our host partners provide professional development opportunities and employee benefits to fellows, and draw on fellows' scholarly perspectives and broad set of skills. Fellows receive a stipend of $66,000 for the first year, $70,000 in the second, and have access to funds and opportunities for professional development through ACLS and our alumni network. This initiative is made possible through the support of the Mellon Foundation.

The deadline for applications is Wednesday, March 15th by 9:00pm EDT. Applications will be accepted only through the ACLS online application system. Applicants should not contact any of the organizations directly. Please visit <https://www.acls.org/competitions/acls-leading-edge-fellowships/> for complete position descriptions, eligibility criteria, and other helpful information for applicants.

SASS Book Subvention Award

Direct all questions to the committee at info@scandinavianstudy.org

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

The first SASS book subvention award is open for applications. Junior and senior faculty, non-tenure track faculty, independent scholars and emeritus faculty who are members of SASS in good standing are eligible to apply. Up to four subventions of as much as $3000 may be awarded in any calendar year. The goal of the subvention is to encourage publication of research monographs in Nordic studies by assisting publishers with production costs. Edited article collections are not eligible for consideration. To receive the award, the author and press must agree to print on the title page of the funded book, "Supported by the Society for the Advancement of Scandinavian Study." Merit of the proposal and the applicant's record of substantive service to SASS as an executive council member or executive officer will be taken into consideration in the assessment of each application.

AWARD CATEGORIES

Pre-tenure, Non-tenure Track, and Independent Scholars

Up to three subventions in this category will be awarded annually. Applicants must be current members of the society, and have been a member in good standing for two full calendar years previous to the year of application. The applicant must have a publishing contract with a university press or other prominent academic publisher. If an applicant receives a subvention award, the award will be paid when the author delivers galley proofs and the press's most up-to-date statement of expected publication date to SASS. For tenure-track applicants, the application must be submitted to SASS before a final decision on promotion to associate professor by the board of regents or equivalent at the applicant's home institution has been made.

Associate Professors, Professors, and Emeritus Faculty

Up to one subvention will be awarded in this category annually. The applicant must be a current member of the society, and have been a member in good standing for five full calendar years previous to the year of application. Applicants must have a publishing contract with a university press or other prominent academic publisher. If an applicant receives a subvention award, the award will be paid when the author delivers galley proofs and the press's most up-to-date statement of expected publication date to SASS.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Applicants should submit a letter of application (two pages or less) describing the manuscript and requesting a subvention amount. The application should also include a copy of the press contract, and a letter/email from a representative of the press stating the expected date of publication, the need for the subvention, and the amount requested. The applicant should also include an updated copy of the curriculum vitae. These documents should be submitted as a single PDF via the SASS website. The deadline is rolling. Announcements of awards will be made in News & Notes. If subvention funds are exhausted in a calendar year, applicants may request to have their application evaluated in the next calendar year.

SASS 2023: Austin Schedule

This is a preliminary schedule. A detailed and updated schedule will be available on the event website.

Thursday April 20

5:30pm-8:00pm

5:30-6:30pm | Avaya Auditorium in POD

Keynote Address: Stephen Mitchell

“Notes from Strindberg’s Camera:
The Quotidian in Nordic Cultural History”

Strindberg’s Bland franska bönder is hardly the first Nordic attempt at a critical examination of everyday life—and, for that matter, the book doesn’t even focus on Scandinavia itself—but his early autoethnography does stand as a well-regarded and well-known example of a serious engagement with the quotidian and the concept of lived lives. My presentation looks to trace this important inclination toward the everyday, and its consequences, throughout the broad sweep of Nordic cultural history, from the Viking Age to more recent times.

6:30-8:00pm | POD Connector Lobby

American Scandinavian Foundation Opening Reception

Mingle with other attendees and presenters after the keynote address. Hors d’oeuvres will be served. Cash Bar.

SASS 2023: Book Room

Do you have a book coming out soon?

Or have you recently released a new title that you would like to promote at SASS 2023?

Publishers and/or individual authors and editors who wish to have their books included in a book room display at the event, as well as on the website, can send one physical copy of each book you would like to have displayed along with ordering information and discount information for SASS members to the organizers in advance of the event. We will include all of these books on a single SASS Book Room page along with contact and purchasing information. At the end of the event, the copies provided by publishers will be raffled off to attendees.

There is no fee to have your book included in the book room beyond sending copies of the books and providing a discount code for our members. If you are interested in this second option, please reach out to sass2023@scandinavianstudy.org to coordinate with our organizers.

If your publisher would like to attend SASS 2023 as an exhibitor, they can register at <https://cvent.me/aKovRV> for a flat fee of $500. Exhibitor registration includes not only a table in the exhibitor space, but also virtual space online and in our Cvent conference app, access to all conference activities.

SASS 2023 Policies

BY ATTENDING ANY SASS-SPONSORED EVENT, WHETHER IN-PERSON OR VIRTUAL, YOU ACKNOWLEDGE THAT YOU HAVE READ AND WILL ABIDE BY THE FOLLOWING POLICIES

SASS Annual Conference COVID-19 Safety Protocol

All participants in the SASS Annual conference are required to have proof of full vaccination before the conference (second vaccine dose received no later than Apr. 12, 2023) or proof of a negative PCR test for COVID-19 less than 72 hours before travel to the conference. Furthermore, all participants in the SASS meeting are required to comply with the COVID-19 safety protocols of the University of Texas at Austin and any other sites visited as part of conference activities.

SASS regards compliance with Annual Conference 2023 COVID-19 Safety Protocol as a matter of professional conduct. Compliance with the protocol is subject to the society's Code of Professional Conduct. Failure to comply with SASS COVID-19 safety protocol is subject to the disciplinary process and outcomes included in the SASS Code of Professional Conduct.

Standards of Professional Behavior Policy

The Society for the Advancement of Scandinavian Study is dedicated to ensuring equality of opportunity and treatment for all members, regardless of, but not limited to, age, body size, class, disability, ethnicity, gender identity and expression, physical appearance, political perspective, race, color, religion or religious belief, sexual orientation, national or ethnic origin, marital status, veteran status, or any other reason not related to academic merit. Our standards call for sensitivity to power dynamics, exhibited in part through respect for the ideas, work, personal autonomy, and contributions of individuals in more junior positions in the field. Our standards include a belief in open inquiry, as well as respect and tolerance for people with worldviews, opinions, and experiences different from our own.

All SASS members and participants are expected to exhibit professional conduct both in person and online at all SASS-related venues including, but not limited to, the annual meeting. Our scholarly interactions are meant to occur in spaces to which people come to exchange ideas and build intellectual and professional networks. All interactive venues managed by the Society—in person, through email and other electronic forms of communication, or on social media, and whether formal or informal—are shared professional spaces. Members should hold themselves and one another to professional expectations. Misconduct is unacceptable. Anyone requested to stop harassing or engaging in other inappropriate behavior is expected to comply immediately.

Unprofessional conduct online and in-person includes, but is not limited to:

- Personal remarks about individuals or groups that are offensive or abusive
- Inappropriate use of sexual images in public spaces
- Deliberate intimidation, stalking, or following
- Unwanted photography or recording
- Sharing personal or professional information or images without permission
- Exploiting a position of power, perceived or real
- Sustained disruption of talks or other events
- Inappropriate and unwanted physical contact
- Unwelcome sexual attention
- Exhibiting disrespectful or discourteous behavior towards presenters, participants, audience members, or anyone else present
- Advocating for, or encouraging, any of the above behavior
